

THE ADVOCATE.

Stock Notes.

Try vaseline on sore teats.
Don't neglect sheltering the calves from cold and rain.

It costs more in the beginning to start with thoroughbred stock, but it generally pays in the end.

One advantage of a creamery is that it gives many who can't make good butter a market for their cream.

An inferior steer or lamb will knock down the price of the bunch much more than the inferior animal is worth.

It will not pay to have a hired hand with an uncontrollable temper to manage the horses, even if he does work for a small price. He will make fool of every horse on the place.

Creameries are a good thing for any community, but there is a chance of failure unless arrangements are made to start with a sufficient number of cows to keep the creamery running.

The man starting into winter with good fresh cows ought to be happy, for butter is high and still advancing. The cow that makes butter all the winter is generally the paying cow.

The Texas Farm and Ranch thinks that it will be a long time before there can be an over production of hogs in that State. The home market will take all that can be raised there for several years to come.

Give the cow a chance to prove valuable, then if she does not, dispose of her. No matter how good the breed, she must have good shelter, pure water and plenty of the right kind of feed if she does her best.

Stock-raisers should keep well posted on the markets. While it is all right for the middleman to have a reasonable margin for his trouble, it is not right for him to make more in a few hours than the man who raised the stock gets for a year or two of care and labor.

The animal force connected with the British army at home or in Great Britain is 13,285 horses, 202 mules and 1,907 chargers. Two-thirds of the stock force is inefficient to some extent by reason of diseases or injuries. The number of deaths in a year was less than 2 1/2 per cent.

The farmer who advised to "follow diversified farming; to keep as much stock as the farm will carry, feed it well, save and apply the manure, and you will not be much interested in learning the comparative merits of commercial fertilizers," came pretty near knowing what he was talking about.

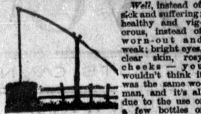

It will pay generally to raise first-class horses of most any kind on the farm, unless it is the trotter. We are inclined to agree with the horseman who said he does not believe the farmer or lives who can afford to grow a good trotter. No matter what the animal will sell for, he will have a demoralizing effect on the true business of the farm that will prove very costly in the end.

A writer very truly remarks that successful dairying can only be carried on in these days of competition from bogus butter and the calls of a fastidious market by thoroughly studying all parts of the business—the cow which produces the milk, her feed production and adaptability, processes of manufacture and putting upon the market.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good. If you have a cough, cold, or any trouble with throat, chest or lungs, Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to give relief or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore. Large size 50 cents and $1.00.

Says an exchange: sheep, and hog livers are usually sold cheap, and if boiled, with ground grain added until a thick mass is formed, we doubt if any egg-producing food, considering the cost, can be secured. In nearly all markets the livers can be procured, and they may be fed raw or cooked, but it is better to cook them. The best grain to use is ground oats, though a small portion of corn and bran will be of advantage.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. What this medicine has done for thousands of delicate women, it will do for you. If you're overworked and debilitated, it will strengthen you up. If you're bothered down with the chronic ache, pains, and weakness peculiar to your sex, it will relieve and cure. It purifies the blood, improves digestion, and restores health, flesh, and strength.

The Fair No More.

The official closing of the World's Fair was observed yesterday with simple ceremonies, which, on account of the tragic death of Chicago's Mayor, who was so closely identified with the great Exposition, were very different from those which had been proposed. The announcement that the World's Fair is no more will be an impressive one to thousands all over the earth. Many will be the pleasant memories it will revive and sincere will be the general regret it will provoke that this mighty monument to civilization, having served its brief purpose, melts away into the past, even as it took shape from the chaos of its creation, like the most beautiful of dreams.

And what a dream it was! Surely no fabulous enchantment of the Magi's wand ever surpassed in magnitude, symmetry and splendor this marvelous evolution of the spirit of modern progress, which for six months has lifted its white walls and expansive domes so majestically above the waters of Lake Michigan. Like a regal "city upon a hill" or like a beguiling mirage in the luminous skies, this crowning miracle of the closing century shone forth to the admiring eyes of all the nations. Like the mirage it will fade from sight, even more swiftly than it dawned into view, but unlike that it leaves behind, in that of which it was but the typification and shadow—for in truth the "White City" were better called the Shadow City—all the mighty forces and supreme achievements that go to make the present the greatest age of the world.

All honor to the people who have made such a result possible! All honor to the millions who have consoled it to its recognition and support! All honor to Chicago, the indomitable young giant of our new world, without whose peerless resources, pluck and public spirit such a stupendous undertaking would have been doomed to failure, even in a land and time like ours.

As it was, nothing of its kind which civilization has ever seen approached it, and in all probability none of us who beheld it will live to look upon its like again.—Courier-Journal.

Population of the Earth.

An exchange says the human family living on earth to-day consists of about 1,550,000,000 souls—not fewer, probably more. These are distributed literally all over the earth's surface, there being no considerable spot on the globe where man has not found a foot-hold. In Asia, the so-called "cradle of the human race," there are now about 80,000,000 people densely crowded, on an average of 139 to every square mile. In Europe there are 220,000,000, averaging 190 to the square mile, not so crowded as Asia, but everywhere dense, and in many places overpopulated. In Africa there are, approximately, 210,000,000, and in the Americas—North, South and Central—110,000,000, these latter, of course, relatively thickly scattered over broad areas. On the islands, large and small, there are probably 10,000,000 more. The extremes of the blacks and white are as five to three, remaining 700,000,000 intermediate, brown, yellow and tawny in color. Of the entire race 500,000,000 are well clothed—that is that they wear garments of some kind that will cover nakedness—250,000,000 habitually go naked, and 700,000,000 only cover the middle part of the body; 500,000,000 live in houses, 700,000,000 in huts and caves, the remaining 250,000,000 virtually have no place to lay their heads.

For the cure of dyspepsia, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, and all derangements of the digestive and assimilative organs, Ayer's Pills are invaluable. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take, always reliable, and retain their virtues in any climate.

Editorial Note For November.

The November number of the Eclectic opens with a long but interesting paper on "Weariness," formerly delivered as a lecture by Prof. Alphonse M. Foster; the following article, "A Garden in stone," inquires into the history and symbolism of certain leaves and flowers, as traced in architecture from its early days. One of the most valuable of the selections in this number is Dr. Cowley-Brown's logical and earnest argument for "Via Media" in the Church. "Mars as a World," summaries for the uninitiated many, the discoveries of the scientific few concerning the Planet. The anonymous article on "The Unity of Thought and Action" contains matter chiefly interesting to students of psychology. "The Bandit of Corsica" is a readable paper, showing the brigandage as it is in life as ever in that island. Among the more literary articles are "The Letters of Henry the Fourth," "A Question of Taste," in which Mr. E. F. Benson discusses the tendencies of modern fiction, and the sketch reminiscent of Thackeray by Canon Irvine, which he entitles "A Study for Colonel Newcome." The descriptive papers are numerous this month; there is a "Character Note," and a careful selection of Miscellaneous.

Published by E. R. Pelton, 144 Eighth street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single numbers, 45 cents; subscription for three months, $1. Eclectic and its 44 Magazine, $8.

Hints to Housekeepers.

A lump of camphor in your clothes will keep steel ornaments from tarnishing.

Milk applied once a week with a soft cloth freshens and preserves boots and shoes.

You can drive nails into hard wood without bending if you dip them first in lard.

Weak spots in a black silk may be strengthened by "sticking" court plaster underneath.

Light scorch marks may be removed by simply moistening them with water and laying in the sun.

Centre cloth, embroideries and the like are being reserved more exclusively for luncheons than for dinners.

To make sweet apple pickle take seven pounds of apples, one quart of vinegar and four pounds of sugar. Pare, quarter and core the apples; steam them if hard, and cook in the vinegar, adding spices to taste.

Beautiful napery, silver, china and glass all set out of geometric exactness, and all exquisitely spotless and clean, are the characteristics of the dinner table, and the choicer and more costly and beautiful, the nearer is reached the standard of perfection.

To wash red table linen, use tepid water with a little powdered borax (borax sets the color); hang to dry in a shady place. The washing must be done separately and quickly with very little soap; the rinsing water should have a very little starch in it. Iron when nearly dry.

A window without a shade is only half dressed. Draperies may be dispensed with; they are decorative, but shades are essential. They temper the light for the room as the lashes do for the eye; they dress the window and at the same time form a back ground for the laces and stuffs of the drapery.

A convenient pocket picnic is readily constructed of two small rounds of cardboard covered with silk and overhauled together after a piece of wadding has been laid between them. The edge can then be set thickly with pins, but here the right sort should be used. The cheap articles of home manufacture are too large for the purpose. Small English pins should be employed.

A pretty little article for hanging beside the bureau to hold the button-book and other small articles is made of one of the wooden eggs used in stocking darning. At equal distances around the centre screw in four of the small brass hooks such as are used on bangle boards, then paint the egg white and decorate with tiny flowers and attach a ribbon to two opposite hooks to hang it by. The egg may be gilded instead of painted, if preferred.

Probably in the very near future many of our vegetable products will be prepared for food by drying or evaporation, as is now done with fruits. A Frenchman has patented a process for preserving potatoes by pressing the water from them and then saving the balance in the form of a perfectly dry meal.

Morris Gibbs has shown that eggs of birds remain the same, the psychological state of the bird. This conclusion is based on observations made on fifty species of birds.

There are twenty-five million acres of land in the world, of which there are about six million in Europe and about five million in the United States has about 100 acres of irrigated lands.

The Temple of Ypsambul in Nabia is built from a solid rock, and its entrance is guarded by four statues, each six feet high, twenty-five feet across the shoulders, the face of each face long, the ear over three feet.

Mr. Clarence King, the well-known geologist, has computed the earth's age on the basis of experiments made on the effect of heat and pressure on certain rocks. Mr. King concludes that the earth's age as a planet is 24,000,000 years.

In the Cascade Mountains is the Great Saiken Lake, the most deeply-sunken lake in the world. It is fifteen miles long and four and a half wide. Its two thousand feet down to the surface of the water, but the depth of the water is unknown.

Among the many "freaks" offered for exhibition at the World's Fair was a child that always walks backwards, a Shetland pony that is so small that her shoes are made from $20 gold pieces, a razor that had been used by George Washington, an Indian boy who aged four years, who can recite "Thanatopsis," and a garment 400 years old.

Nature, quoting a correspondent from Lahore, India, says: "A few days ago in a village named Dadual (in the Pashawa district) rain fell, preceded by a wind storm, and with the rain came a shower of hailstones, which lasted for an hour and a few minutes. The most curious part of this occurrence is that the hailstones, when touched, were not at all cold, and when put in the mouth tasted like sugar."

A recent writer in the Magazine of Natural History asks whether ants talk, and relates that he saw a drove of small black ants moving apparently to new quarters. Every time two met they put their heads together as though they were chatting. To investigate the matter he killed one, and the eye-witnesses of the murder hastened away and laid their heads together with every ant they met. The latter immediately turned back and fled.

The late Gen. Beale is said to have brought the first specimen of gold from California to the East in 1848. He crossed through Mexico with them, disguised as an English lieutenant—rather a dangerous place for Americans soon after the war—and managed to get aboard the United States ship Saratoga, then lying off San Diego, in command of Capt. (afterward Admiral) Farragut. It was the report thus brought by Gen. Beale that stimulated the gold fever all over the country.

Dave Hanks of Kane Creek, N. C., Bunkum Co. has an eighty-eight line poem, entitled "Shade Lemon's P. Pensons, dedicated 22 The New Penhush Kermahner," in Fetter's Southern Magazine for November. This poem is in the best humorous vein of that eccentric old bard of the mountains. Articles by Clifford Lanier, W. C. Egan, and Mrs. Clark Waring are interesting, powerful, and poetic. A new poem appears in "Machine or Demonic?" by G. W. Darrell, M. D.

The results of six months of observations of Mars have led Mr. Schaefer, of the Lick Observatory, to the conclusion—contrary to the generally received view—that the dark portions of the disk represent land and the light portions water. This is supported by observations of San Francisco Bay from Mount Hamilton, in which the bay appears brighter than the neighboring valleys and mountains at the same distance. On this hypothesis the "canals" would correspond to ridges of mountains, which, wholly immersed in water, while their doubling may represent parallel ridges of which our own land is a furnish's examples.

Notes for Women.

Be sure that the coffee pot is clean if you want good coffee. Housekeeping can be made much easier and enjoyable than many make it. It requires order and system.

Have a place for everything and train every member of the household to put things in their assigned places.

The mother who does not train her daughters to be neat, orderly, housekeepers, does the children a great wrong.

Try the white of an egg for burns or scalds. It is also recommended as an antidote for poisons of a corrosive nature. In such cases it is taken internally of course.

Mothers and sisters, treat the boys of the household so they will feel while young, what they will realize when too late, that home is the best place on earth.

Home is the last place where erismism should be made. The world chides and stings enough with its criticisms, and home should be a place of retreat from such things.

A housekeeper says that insects may be destroyed with hot alum. Put it in hot water and let it boil until the alum is dissolved. Apply hot, with a brush, and all creeping things are instantly destroyed without danger to human life or injury to property.

In canning, a writer thinks that the housekeeper should bear in mind that there are few kinds of fruit that are not improved by sugar, because it takes the color and flavor and gives much finer results. Some kinds of fruit require but little sugar for this purpose, while others are poor indeed without sugar.

Women in Greenland.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the returned explorer, tells a Brooklyn Eagle representative of some curious customs among the inhabitants of far-away Greenland.

Unbecoming as is the costume of those northerners it is graceful and becoming as compared with their own. All the stories told about them are true. They never wash, their clothes are worn from generation to generation, and their general habits are indescribable. When Peary and followers washed their faces in melted snow the natives thought it a religious ceremony and stood silent in amazement. When, from seeing the operation performed several times, they began to understand that it was an everyday occurrence, they summoned their friends from far and near to witness the sight. There is but little difference between the dress of the men and women of the North.

The woman's hood is separate from the coat, which hangs loosely in the back to afford a resting place for her papoose. The papooses wear no clothes at all. When the mother's hood is in place no breath of air can touch the little one. The skin coats hang to the thighs. The man's trousers reach from the knees to the edge of the coat, where they fit tightly. They are not fastened in any way, and if the wearer leans forward or backward he exposes his flesh to an atmosphere that would freeze a white man. From the knees down the legs are protected by long boots of sealskin. The trousers are made of the skin of the polar bear, which is practically indestructible. One pair will last a man a lifetime and will then serve for a younger generation. The woman's trousers are much shorter than the man's and the boots she wears are proportionately longer. The boots are made of sealskin with the fur dressed off. A pair of them will last about four months. The woman makes the shoes and other clothing and in fact do all the work. The hunt hunt and fish and seal and bird-skins is effective if nasty. As soon as an Esquimaux takes off his boots his wife proceeds to soften them for him by chewing them. The shirt of auk or elder-duck skin contains from 100 to 150 skins, all of which have to be chewed into condition and then sewed together with gut. A shirt will last eighteen months before it falls to pieces, so that with sewing and chewing shoes and shirts the time of the women is pretty well occupied, without any allowance for the manufacture of stockings from the skin of the arctic hare. Dr. Cook has a native made quilt of elder-duck skin, for which he was offered $400.

When the white men first reached Greenland they were as much a curiosity to the Esquimaux as the Esquimaux were to them. Manabess, of one of the most northern tribes, walked 300 miles to gaze at a white man.

FOR COLDS, COUGHS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, AND GRIPE, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, And for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Diseases. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Prompt to act, sure to cure.

During his trip he met a young Esquimaux girl, with whom he fell in love, and Dr. Cook thus describes his love-making and the subsequent marriage ceremony: "As soon as Manabess was attracted to the girl he asked her parents to give her to him. They were willing if she was. Manabess then, according to Greenland custom, instead of telling her that she was the most beautiful creature under the sun, said to her, 'Mahmakdookos,' which means, 'You smell good to me.' If she had run away it would have signified that Manabess must seek elsewhere for a wife, but she did not, she repeated, 'Mahmakdookos,' and the couple rubbed their noses together. In the presence of the girl's relatives, that concluded the ceremony and, according to the custom of the country, they were married for a probationary term of three months. At the end of three months the groom is compelled to return the bride to her parents and to see her for a year. If at the end of a year he desires to claim her she must go to him. If he does not care to claim her he is free to desert her and he is not thought to have done anything dishonorable. It is, however, very seldom that an Esquimaux deserts the girl he has once rubbed noses with.

Among many other relics that Dr. Cook brought back with him are the mummified skeletons of an extinct race, disinterred by his party from their ancient graves at Omanok-ford. The entire contents of the Eskimo graves were packed in cases and are now in Brooklyn awaiting scientific examination.

Help is Wanted

By the women who are ailing and suffering, or weak and exhausted. And, to all such women, help is guaranteed by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. For young girls just entering womanhood; women at the critical "change of life"; women approaching confinement; nursing mothers; and every woman who is "run-down" or overworked, it is medicine that builds up, strengthens and regulates, no matter what the condition of the system.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and bracing nerve, and the only guaranteed remedy for "female complaints," and weakness. In bearing-down sensations, periodical pain, ulceration, inflammation, and every kindred ailment, if it ever falls to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

One of the prevalent errors among our farmers is the supposition that growth of sorrel, and other plants of an acid character, indicates an acid condition of the soil. Farmers should know that all these vegetable acids are the result of the assimilating process by which the plant gets carbon from the air. The vegetable acids are of carbon-hydrate origin, and come from the air, and not from the soil. The application of the so-called acid phosphates to the soil has nothing to do with the appearance of sorrel. The prevalence of sorrel indicates either an impoverished condition of the soil, or a state in which the fertility present is in an unavailable condition. The application of time is useful, not because it sweetens, but because it brings plant food available—Practical Farmer.

Vote to-day.

Democrat, stamp you X under the rooster to-day.

Let every Democrat put his X under the rooster's feet.

Let every Democrat see that his vote is cast, so it will be counted. Put the X under the rooster and take no chances.

Vote the straight Democratic ticket and rebuke the Republicans for nominating a coon for Councilman.

John C. Wood would have you believe he favored the repeal of the silver bill. What did he say of it in the Gazette, of which he is editor?

The McCreary Bill amending the Geary Chinese Exclusion act was passed Thursday by the Senate in the same form in which it came from the House.

The polls close at 4 o'clock. Get in your vote early. Democrats will vote the Democratic ticket without a scratch. Do your duty, brethren, and you will be proud of it.

At a caucus of the Republican Aldermen, George R. Swift defeated Martin B. Madden for the nomination for Mayor of Chicago. The Republicans have control of the Council, and the nomination is almost equivalent to an election.

The papers all over the country are commenting on the very unusual circumstance of a relief committee withdrawing its appeal for funds. This is what the relief committee of the yellow fever stricken city of Brunswick, Georgia, has done.

The Treasury of Kentucky is in good shape. A month since Treasurer Hale paid out $800,000 to the public schools of the State. Saturday he began paying out $400,000 more and he announces that when this payment is made he will still have $400,000 left.

John C. Wood has said more than once in his ungrateful sheet, that any man who claims to be a Democrat and votes for a Republican is a mongrel. He calls such "mugwumps," "scratchers," etc., and says they have no claims on our party. Watch out, Democrats. John C. Wood would have you backen your record by voting for him, and when this has been done you are not worthy decent recognition from your own party. This is John Wood.

Congressman Bryan says the silver men propose to introduce a silver bill just as soon as the regular session opens. Some 30 or 40 of the silver members and Senators held a sort of informal caucus, which was presided over by General Warner, of Ohio. They agreed that the question should now be left to the people whether they want free silver or a ratio of 16 to 1. Silver literature will be circulated freely, and it was the disposition of the caucus that in the Congressional and National election partisanship should be thrown aside and that all free silver advocates may work harmoniously in the interests of their cause.

REPEAL BILL.

Opinions of the Press.

The New York Tribune (Rep.) says: "The weary war of words in the Senate has ended. Thanks to the firmness of the Republicans and the President, a declaration has at last been reached which ought to help business not a little. Had they yielded in the least the Repeal Bill would not have passed. Two sets of prophets have informed the country what fruit this bill will produce. Optimists in speculation, and men whose only political opinion is worship of the President, are sure that the Repeal Bill ushers in an era of the grandest prosperity ever known; the silver Senators predict that the sufferings of mankind will surpass all past records of disaster. The truth is probably to be found between these extremes. The quantity of coin used as money in the commercial world no longer makes prices. Confidence counts for more millions than coinage. Confidence will increase without doubt, and, within limits, confidence creates business and makes prices. The President deserves honor, the more because he has been at war with the majority of his party."

The New York Herald (Independent) says: "This may well be hailed by the people as a glorious peace victory without a parallel. The Herald rejoices in the outcome as a glorious victory for the people. It is the force of popular sentiment which has triumphed."

The New York World: "The will of the people has at last been respected. The firmness of the President has at last been rewarded. It is a triumph for a sound and stable currency, for the credit of the Government, for the rights of the people."

The New York Recorder (Republican): "This gold-silver victory means a gold-silver defeat in the not distant future. The appeal now lies to the States and to the people. We have no fear as to what the ultimate decision will be. The Recorder has not fought for the so-called Sherman law. What we asked and strove to win was repeal of the Sherman law under conditions that would not demonetize silver, that would conserve bimetalism. Under the crack of the gold-bug administration which the Democratic party, false to its platform and to its promise, has utterly demonetized silver. It is temporarily triumphant and Lombard street rejoices."

The New York Times: "The day of silver as a standard money, as a measure of value, is over. Nothing but this dream of the international bimetalists—an agreement among the great commercial nations—will arrest the progress of silver toward its destined subsidiary place. The country has pronounced for sound money, and it will have it."

The Louisville Courier-Journal: "While this result again vindicates our system of constitutional democracy and demonstrates anew the integrity of the American people, their restlessness in great national crises, and their inflexible determination, through every form of monetary error which ignorance or demagoguery may breed, to maintain the honesty and soundness of their currency, it at the same time eradicates the ulcer which was threatening to poison our entire financial system, removes the cause of the recent disastrous panic, and lifts from the industry and commerce of the land the incubus of uncertainty and apprehension which for so many dreary weeks has paralyzed business."

"There is no doubt, and there has been none from the first, that the panic and depression through which the country has passed were due to the fear of the operation of the Sherman law, and nothing is surer than the fact that now that the mischievous feature of that law has been repealed, recuperation will begin and continue surely and safely. The stagnation which resulted upon the sudden congestion of our great money arteries can not be stimulated into full activity in a day or a week, but full activity is bound to come, as inevitably as the waters congested and packed in an ice gorge melt and seek their level with the returning sun of summer."

What do the people know of John C. Wood's position on the Jim Crow Separate Coach Bill? Give it to him on all sides. He is not worthy the support of even his own party; but this he can have and not a vote more. Ben R. Turner, a Democrat of whom the party is proud, will get the solid party vote.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrup, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curls, cures Diarrhoea, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osborn, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. Those the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kitchin, Conway, Ark.

The Centaur Company, 71 Murray Street, New York City.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Andrew, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

ALLAN C. SMITH, Pres.,

SELF-WALKING POSTAGE.

He Cuts Up Shindigs Before An Admiring Public.

Oakland, Ill., November 1.—The little town of Warren, three miles south of here, is considerably excited over the action of Rev. Mr. Lawrence, of the East Dubois circuit.

Last night about 11 o'clock, as George Brown, of this city, was passing along Main street, Warren, he was astonished to meet Rev. Mr. Lawrence, attired only in a night shirt and a wide-brimmed straw hat. As the pastor passed him Mr. Brown noticed that his eyes were tightly closed, and, surmising that he was somnambulant, he determined to follow him.

When Rev. Lawrence reached the gate of the Christian churchyard he entered, closely followed by Mr. Brown and walking to the south side of the church, he grasped the lightning rod and began to ascend. Seizing him by the shirt, Mr. Brown endeavored to pull him down, but the cloth gave way and the minister climbed to the cornice and crawled to the incline of the roof, seating himself on the roof. He slid to the bottom of the incline, catching by a slight projection at the very edge.

He continued this performance until Mr. Brown became alarmed, and seizing the rope of the church bell he began to ring for help. The people of the town mistaking it for a fire alarm, turned out en masse and assembled in the churchyard to the number of 300, and watched the ministers strange actions for nearly half an hour. At the end of this time he descended the roof and passing through the crowd made his way to his boarding house. On being interviewed this morning he declared that he knew nothing of what happened the night before. He now sleeps with his leg chained to the bedpost. A young lady secured the piece of shirt that was torn off, dividing it among her friends as souvenirs of the incident. She says she will put her piece in a crazy quilt. The people who witnessed the performance enjoyed it very much, and the minister is none the worse except for a severe cold.

The Republicans brought out the coon candidate for Councilman from the Third ward. This is their work alone. They alone are responsible for it. True some of them, particularly among the candidates, are so thoroughly ashamed of it and are denying that they had anything to do with it.

Senator John Sherman is saying that the Democrats will not pass the bill repealing the Federal Election laws "without the hardest fight they have ever had." It was the same Senator who said the Senate would never pass the Voorhees Repeal Bill.

The extraordinary session of Congress was ended Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when both House and Senate adjourned sine die.

The Sherman Silver Purchase Law, that has stood as a menace to our financial advancement, has been wiped from the Statute books. The Senate, by the significant vote of 45 to 32, passed the Voorhees Repeal Bill on Monday of last week, and the House on Thursday concurred in its action. The President has attached his signature to the document, and the country looks forward to a gradual improvement in the condition of financial matters. The struggle has been a stubborn one, but the will of the people has been obeyed. There are yet two unfulfilled pledges of the Democratic party that must be faithfully kept, viz: the Repeal of the Elections Law and the modification of the McKinley Tariff. The party in power will keep faith with the people in these directions, as it has done in the case of the Sherman Law.

"The repeated gains made by Harvard through the use of a kicking game, must bear some fruit in the effect upon this year's play, and a stimulus to the kicking game that has been greatly needed. Our players, and particularly the new ones, seem to learn every other style of play before this, and there are many teams who, like Cornell in the Harvard game last year, make no pretense of kicking, but admit that they cannot make use of it at all. To know but one method is to enter every contest handicapped, and in close games to lose by just a hundred. The third down must come even to the best running teams at times, and then to give up the ball on the spot instead of thirty or forty yards down the field is a heavy penalty for ignorance of the punt. And this is not all. If the day of an important match finds a strong wind blowing, the side which fails to take advantage of that wind when it is in their favor must become an easy prey for their more clever opponents, who can afford to rest a while with the wind and concentrate all their energies into half the time."—Football, by Walter Camp, in Outlook for November.

"Time was when trapping consisted mainly of setting traps and taking therefrom the easily secured captives, but now it demands the closest study of wild creatures and their ways—has become, in fact, a strategic game between the highest form of reason and an instinct often so closely approaching reason that the dividing line is problematical. The very difficulty of successful trapping, the keen observation and close study it demands and the delightful contact it insures with nature's purest charms, form its greatest attraction. There is more excitement (of a certain kind), more pleasure and more genuine sportsmanship involved in trapping than in shooting game with gun or rifle, simply because the one demands more knowledge and closer and longer continued relations with nature than does the other."—"Trapping and Home-made Traps," in Outlook for November.

Chills and Fever

Expected to Die—But Hood's Gave Good Health.

"If you will take time to read this letter, I would like to tell you what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. Three years ago I was taken with chills and fever, and although I slept in a cold room, even in winter, I would not light a fire. I thought I must die."

But I read so much of what Hood's Sarsaparilla was doing for others, I thought I would try it. I believe it has saved my life. I am now my former healthy self, and I can say that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever took for chills and fever, and I feel that I cannot praise it enough."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Remember that it does not cure so much good."

Mr. M. A. McClure, of Winchester, a well-known shoe drummer, going out to see his trade last Wednesday, near here, came near losing his life. His team became frightened, ran away and overturned his wagon, causing painful injuries.

Our bachelor friend, Mr. L. P. La-Yeague, of the C. & O., in full dress left here last week and some of his friends thought he would return a happier man, half of his troubles to be shared by another, but he had been shown as best man at the marriage of Miss Annie McMurtry to Mr. T. T. Robinson, Ky., which took place on the 1st inst.

PERSONAL MENTION.

L. E. Daniel will make Fort Worth Texas his home.

L. B. Ringold is on the sick list, but is some better to-day.

T. J. Bigstaff was in Covington on legal business last week.

Mrs. J. D. Hanna, of Russell, Ky. is visiting her brother Mr. S. Kelly.

E. H. Patterson of Knoxville was in the city on legal business last week.

Mr. A. N. Riddell and wife, parents of Mrs. Hall, will go with them.

Mrs. Mallie Gracey, of Oakland, Cal., is visiting Mrs. Col. Thos. Johnson.

Mrs. I. F. Calk and other relatives in the city, Mrs. Gracey is still winding up quite an extended visit East and will only stay here a week or ten days till she turns her face toward the setting sun.

Miss Hecker Hazelrigg, of Frankfort, came up Friday to visit her friend, Miss Mattie Bridgforth. Of all the lovely young women who have lived among us (and there have been many), none more completely enjoys the love of all who know her than does Miss Hecker.

The "bad boy" of Mt. Sterling, in hunting for fields new to which to exercise his talents, has had to fall back upon the old-time sport of "running."

A few nights ago a couple of these guileless lads proposed a walk to the suburbs to a young clerk who had been raised in a city and knew nothing of the dangers of walking in the country after nightfall. Naturally the conversation turned on the dangers attendant upon such a walk, and many a fearful tale did these guileless youths unfold to harrow up the feelings of their companion. Of course the boys fell among thieves, and when the pistols began to crack and the guns to boom and the clerk saw his two companions fall to the ground pierced, as he supposed, by many balls, he opened his mouth and gave vent to a yell that has scarcely yet done echoing among the hills, and set out at a pace that is seldom equaled by the fastest racer. It did not matter that he reached the protecting limits of the town, his pace slackened not till, worn and exhausted, he sought the shelter of his own room. Only then did he gather himself together sufficiently to tell of the fate that had befallen his friends. The boys have been a little shy about explaining to the clerk how it happened they were not so badly hurt as they appeared to be, and how they escaped from the hands of the robbers.

Mr. William Stevens, aged 55 died at his home on the Carmarage pike near the city limits, on Tuesday morning last. Mr. Stevens was a quiet, unobtrusive man, who desired to do the life God gave him in doing all the good he could and just as little harm as possible. Two of his surviving children, Mrs. B. F. Wyatt and Mrs. R. C. Robinson, are residents of this city.

While Senator Sherman is parading about in Ohio claiming credit for having passed the Hepst Bill, Senator Voorhees is out in an interview in which he says the Ohio Senator prolonged the struggle and did more to encourage the enemies of repeal and to discourage its friends than any other element.

A very fat deer being driven up Main street by some colored boys attracted much attention on last Monday. Deer of that kind are not so very plentiful in Madison. It was the property of Mr. Chas. Powell and had escaped from its enclosure.—Richmond Register.

At a regular meeting of Mt. Sterling Lodge No. 23, F. & A. M., a committee was appointed and reported the following preamble on the death of our lamented brother Jesse A. Orear, which was adopted and publication requested in our town papers. We have assembled to pay tribute to the memory of our esteemed and beloved brother Jesse A. Orear. We rejoice in his citizenship, and that he was a man of spotless character and the purest integrity, one who loved God and his fellow man. He was one whose innate modesty shrank from publicity and whose sympathies extended to and aided the most humble; one who by nature a gentleman and by profession a christian. But alas! his work was done, his column is broken. To say we realize our loss, does not express our feelings, yet we feel that such a life crowned with such attainments is not lost but will live with us as a guide and pattern. May we emulate his virtues and strive after his attainments. Our deepest sympathies, we extend to his bereaved wife and relatives. Their loss is our loss, but his eternal gain.

Why I Am a Democrat.

Under this title Gen. M. T. McMahon writes an interesting paper in Donahoe's Magazine. This is what he says about protection:

"Our country never needed protection, in my opinion. It is the most prolific country the sun ever shown on. Its productiveness is unparalleled and when protection is given to an enterprise in order that it may be profitable, the money invested in it is diverted by that very fact from its legitimate use and natural channel. The moment an industry cries out for protection and hangs out the signal of distress the capital invested in it should be withdrawn; and certainly if invested in some other industry that needs no protection, the money will yield a better return in the end to the investor himself, and will contribute very much more to the general prosperity, employing more labor, developing more capital. The hot-house process was never necessary in the United States. It is folly for a man to attempt to grow oranges in Massachusetts, when he can produce other crops that pay without artificial forcing."

The Republican force of employees under Surveyor of Port Alford quit yesterday and forwarded their resignations to Washington, the object being to throw the office of the new Surveyor into confusion. Mr. Alford is fortunate says Saturday's Courier-Journal.

Arthur Farrar, one of the best known Chicago's capitalists, died of nervous prostration Thursday. He leaves a very large estate, all of which he had accumulated in Chicago since 1868.

Prendergast, the murderer of Mayor Carter Harrison, was arraigned before Judge Horton in Chicago Thursday. He pleaded not guilty and was granted a continuance until he could secure a lawyer.

Immediately after the closing of the Baptist Sunday School next Sunday morning, a very important meeting will be held, probably the most important in the history of the church. Every member needs to be present.

Bud Stone, self-convicted murderer of the Wrasen family, was arraigned at Washington, Ind., on Saturday morning, and pled guilty. The jury was charged and in a few minutes brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree.

At Austin, Texas, on the 25th ultimo, Rev. R. B. Garrett and wife (nee Anna Laura Hown) lost their four year old daughter Emily by diphtheria. She was a bright, sweet little child, and this dispensation is a deep sorrow. They have the sympathy of their friends here.

The Chicago Columbian Museum fund was given another big lift by a check for $50,000 from Mrs. George D. Sturges. She subscribes the amount unconditionally. Mrs. Sturges is the widow of the late George D. Sturges, who was President of the Northwestern National Bank.

Robert Poston, cashier and confidential man for the commission firm of McCoy & Underwood, at the stockyards, of Chicago, has been missing for several days. The shortage is variously estimated at from $15,000 to $30,000. He is said to have had a confederate in a very pretty young woman, who is also gone.

The Cronin case, with Daniel Coughlin as defendant, was called in court at Chicago again Thursday, but, as upon many previous occasions, the trial was postponed. A rumor that the prosecution will dismiss the case was denied. Coughlin's attorneys say they will demand an immediate trial or the release of Coughlin.

The steamship City of Alexandria from Havana to New York, was burned off Colimar, twenty-five miles from Havana, Wednesday afternoon. It is believed that thirty-four or thirty-five persons were drowned. The vessel, which was one of the largest in the West Indies trade, had 400 heads of stock on board.

The association of negroes, formed to test the constitutionality of the separate coach law, filed its first suit at Owensboro Thursday. The suit is brought by a negro preacher, W. H. Anderson and wife, of Evansville, who want $15,000 damages for being put off a Louisville and Nashville train at Henderson because the insisted on riding in a car set aside for white people.

Arrangements have been concluded in New York by which control of the Chesapeake, Ohio and Northwestern railroad, running from Louisville to Memphis, is secured by the Louisville and Nashville and Illinois Central roads. The deal involves about $6,000,000. By this purchase the Louisville and Nashville obtains a practical monopoly of all lines in Kentucky west of Lexington and east of the Tennessee river, and in addition gets terminal facilities at Memphis which would otherwise have cost the company over half a million dollars.

Colonel J. Hampton Hoge, recently appointed United States Consul at Amoy, China, received an intimation by telegram that he had been removed by President Cleveland on account of certain charges that had been made against him, the nature of which the dispatch failed to state. Colonel Hoge expressed great surprise at his recall, and stated his intention of proceeding to Washington at once to investigate. The charges are said to have been preferred by Col. Hoge's tailor, who thinks the Colonel's having forgotten to settle an unfair bill for clothes, was "conduct unbecoming a gentleman."

HORSE AND TRACK.

Nancy Hanks' earnings for this year amount to $17,550.

Of the 27 pacers in the 2:10 list all are living but Storm, 2:08.

Palo Alto secured $90,000 for six foals out of Beautiful Belle.

It is said that Doble and Starr may consolidate their stables next year.

Geers says that Robert J. is the fastest harness performer on earth.

Alcyone is the only sire of two trotters with race records below 2:10.

J. H. L., 2:08, has started in forty-four races and won money in all but two.

Meander, the sire of Pamilco, 2:10, and Egmont, the sire of Lobasco, 2:10, are brothers.

Nutwood leads all sires of new performers this season with 18. Alcantara comes next with 17.

John Kelly has marked three horses below 2:06—Direct 2:04, Directum 2:05, and Flying Jib 2:04.

Palo Alto farm has an order for fifty colts, fillies and brood mares for immediate shipment to Europe.

Alma Mater has now eight representatives in the 2:30 list. She has produced foals by ten different sires.

Directum won the match race with Mascot 2:04 at New York Thursday in straight heats. 2:10, 2:07, 2:08.

One hundred and eighty head of horses brought $45,000 during the first three days of the Berry sale last week, an average of $250.

Sphinx has now thirteen in the 2:30 list, and the oldest of his get is but five years. Four of the thirteen are two-year-olds, and three have records in 2:30 or better.

Alerton's fee next season will remain at $200. Probably only a few outside mares will be taken, as he will early in the season be placed in active training.—Trotter.

An exchange says that in the last two years $20,000 have been paid by Boston parties to get a horse to beat Jewett on the road. They are out hunting now and have not found one yet.

Next February Augustus Sharpe, of Louisville, owner of Greendale and Earl, will ship a stable of eight horses to Germany, where he will campaign for himself. He believes he can make more money there.

Voodoo, by Stamboul, out of Minnehaha, took a record at Homolville, N. Y., the other day of 2:27. This gives old Minnehaha eight performers in the list. Voodoo was purchased several years ago by F. G. Babcock, of Homolville, for $24,000.

A story is told that a lecturer in one of the western colleges became the fortunate possessor of a trotting stallion whose services were worth $8000 a year, and his annual salary was but $1000. The breeder admonished him that he must sell his horse or resign. The professor is now doing good by lecturing to breeders.

Is Fantasy the two-minute horse? None can tell, not even Ed. Geers, who has trained, conditioned and driven her in all her races, but the fact that the first quarter was trotted in 33 seconds and the last in 31, indicates speed in reserve. Fantasy 2:08 is large, rangy and bony, but the bones are not too large, nor is she large enough to be in the least clumsy or lumberly in action. In motion she shows a smooth, low action, is not nervous nor easily worried, but seems to be full of quiet power and unified energy, with full control of herself and absolute confidence in her driver.

The marvelous performances of Director, Nancy Hanks and Dix at Chicago have revived the question as to the increase of speed given to a trotter hitched to a modern bike. "Crit Davis said recently that if it were not for the bicycle sulky, he could not drive a trotting race. "I weigh 183 pounds," he went on, "so that if I were to try to drive Harrietta or any of the others that can trot heat after heat in 2:15 it would cause them to go back to about 2:30. There is not the slightest friction to a bicycle sulky with pneumatic tires and ball bearing axles, so that, as heavy as I am, it would give a good chance as any of the lightweight drivers.

D. W. Chinnault sold to Embury and Greenwald 83 cattle, for Morris & Co., of Chicago, at $4.40 per hundred averaging 1,550.

The wheat crop is sown. A drive through the country shows many green fields, some being very far advanced for the season.

Mr. Mac Phelps sold to J. W. Bales agent of Lehman & Bro., forty head of fat cattle, for export, averaging about 1,550-lbs., at 44 cents.

Henry Hall sold to Embury and Greenwald, 60 cattle at 44 cents, averaging 1,600-lbs. at 34 cents. Mr. Reid is debarring his cattle this season. He handles about 150 head each year.

Mr. James H. Boggs sold to parties in the county 5 head of mixed cattle at 2 cents, and two yearlings weighing 850-lbs. at 3 cents. Offered several yearlings and mixed cattle but had no bidders. Reports market very low and dull.—Richmond Register.

A special from Lexington to the Louisville Times says: A mysterious disease has broken out among the cattle about Paris and in Fayette county. W. K. Hughes has lost three within the past few days, and five others are in a dangerous condition. Mr. Hughes has applied to the Lexington veterinary for help. The disease, he thinks, is contagious.

Owing to the default of $90,000 interest the American Loan and Trust Company of Boston, trustees for $1,500,000 worth of first mortgage bonds of the company owning and engaged in the development of the town of Grand Rivers, Ky., Friday filed suit in the Federal Court at Louisville, asking for an order for the sale of the property and for the appointment of a receiver. Judge Barr appointed Thos. W. Lawson, Vice President of the company, receiver, fixing his bond at $40,000.

The weekly reviews of the trade of the Dun and Bradstreet mercantile agencies show that already the repeal of the silver purchasing clause of the Sherman act is having its good effect on business generally. While it is declared that repeal came too late to help fall trade, it has served to give a tone of health to business that is encouraging in the extreme. Bankers are more liberal in their accommodations, while everywhere the merchants are more hopeful than for a long while.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 2,283 hhds, with receipts for the same period of 697 hhds. Sales on our market since January 1, amount to 117,363 hhds. Sales of the crop of 1892 on our market amount to 118,350 hhds.

We have had a firm and active market throughout the week for all grades of burley tobacco, the tendency being toward an advance on all grades. The sales of the week embraced 350 hogheads.
